Glamorgan will open new tenders for centre

Glamorgan Township has retendered the contract to build its new community centre since it did not get valid tenders on the first call.

The new tenders, which are by invitation only, will be opened at a public meeting on December 11 at 3 p.m., according to township clerk Elva Bates.

Bates said council is still awaiting written approval for its $98,462.38 Wintario grant.

Truck hits tree, youth injured

A Haliburton youth was treated for minor injuries at Haliburton hospital after the truck he was driving hit a tree along Highway 519 north of Haliburton early Saturday morning.

Brian Lloyd, 18 of Haliburton, was southbound when the accident occurred. The pickup truck he was driving was damaged to the tune of $4,000.

A Wilberforce woman was uninjured when the car she was driving entered a ditch, sustaining $8,000 damage, Friday evening.

Donna Herbert, 50, was northbound on County Road 10 when she lost control of the

Minden councillor quits at urging of chief justice

by Sue Cooper

Dean Elliott, a newly-elected councillor for Anson, Minden, and Haliburton, has resigned his position because of conflicts it might create with his office of justice of the peace.

Friday, Ontario Chief Justice Hayes contacted Elliott requesting that he resign from either his position as justice of the peace or councillor because problems might arise in the future, Elliott said Monday.

"He was of the opinion that there could be occasions when it might appear to the general populace that the ends of justice had not been properly served. To avoid that situation, I basically had a choice to be either a councillor or a J.P.," Elliott said.

Although Elliott said he believed he had a legal right to run for office, he felt compelled to resign in order to retain his justice of the peace position.

Two years ago, when he first considered running for office, Elliott said he contacted the chief justice's office and was not given the impression that he would be considered ineligible for office, although the chief justice suggested he seek out independent legal advice on the matter.

When Elliott decided to put his name before the public in the recent election, he spoke to his solicitors and was informed it was perfectly legal for him to hold municipal office.

"I was in contact with my solicitors to ensure that it was legally okay to run and they were quite satisfied that there was no reason in the world why I could not run," Elliott said.

According to Paul Jones, a spokesman for the Orillia office of the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs, a judge who sits in any court is not eligible to run for municipal office.

"There are different classes of justices of the peace," Jones said. "Those who can sit as a judge of the court and therefore are ineligible to run for office. But a J.P. who cannot sit as a judge is not classified as a judge."

However, Elliott said he was obliged to follow the wishes of the chief justice and felt he should retain his position as justice of the peace.

"I was compelled to take my J.P. job over my position as councillor," Elliott said.

In favour of the justice of the peace position was the time Elliott had spent working towards that goal and also the fact he could only count on the councillor's position for a period of two years.

Even though Elliott says he enjoys the work of justice of the peace, he was disappointed about resigning his seat at the council table.

"I'm certainly upset about it. I had a bunch of things lined up that I thought needed to be done," Elliott added.

Along with his own personal disappointment, Elliott said he felt bad about disappointing the over 750 voters

Expected to be completed by next summer

Disaster group forms plan

Before next summer, a disaster planning committee expects to have a list of volunteers, auxiliary health personnel and emergency equipment that could be pushed into service if a disaster occurred in the county.

Julie Gray, a registered nurse at the Minden Red Cross Hospital and a member of the committee, made a brief presentation to county council on the fledgling organization, last Wednesday.

The committee, which was originally organized by Gray, Sgt. Bill Bailey of the Minden

OPP and Haliburton hospital RN Lynn Johnston, hopes to be able to list every volunteer or health personnel including camp doctors, persons who have taken first aid courses and nurses, as well as vehicles, machinery, auxiliary heat and electrical sources, lodging facilities and the availability of food, Gray said in a telephone interview on Monday.

At present, the committee is studying the "potential and needs of a disaster," while compiling the lists, Gray said.

When completed, the lists will be distributed to all emergency-orientated organizations such as the police, fire department, ambulance services, hospitals and municipal officials, Gray said.

Before that is done, however, the committee hopes to have many people involved, including those organizations as well as the service clubs, Gray said.

The idea behind disaster planning committees, which are being established throughout Ontario, is to

Steam tourist train could generate revenue to cover operating costs

A steam tourist train operating from Lindsay to Haliburton could show a modest profit in its second year of operation after an initial loss, a feasibility study indicates. But the profit would only be possible if an initial investment of up to $1 million is not assessed against the line's revenues.

According to a study completed by the IBI Group for Victoria and Haliburton Counties, capital costs to make the train fully operational could be as high as $1 million, while operating costs in the first year are estimated at $312,000.

In the first year, the feasibility study shows a projected operating loss of $75,000, while in the second and subsequent years, a modest profit might be generated.

But, the study stresses, "these are operating results only. They do not include any allowance for payback or servicing" of the initial capital investment in line rehabilitation, rolling stock, station renovations and construction, and equipment storage facilities.

"On a strictly commercial basis," the study notes, "the operation does not appear to be financially feasible." It also indicates, however, that the potential benefits of the line to Victoria and Haliburton Counties are great enough that government capital may be available to meet at least some of the startup costs.

The study was presented to Victoria and Haliburton County representatives earlier this month, and was made Moosonee, they use conventional diesel locomotives. A steam locomotive excursion would be unique, the study notes, and could be expected to draw substantial ridership. A diesel excursion on the Lindsay/Haliburton line would not be worthwhile, however, because the scenery is unremarkable and the available to county council at a meeting last Wednesday.

The idea of running a steam excursion on the line was originally brought to the attention of Lindsay council by two citizens, Ed Skelcher and Art Eyres. Support for the concept in both counties led to a cost sharing arrangement with the Ministry of Industry and Tourism for the study, which was commissioned earlier this year.

What makes the steam train proposal attractive, despite the substantial costs involved, according to the study, is that it would become a major tourist attraction in an area that lacks one. While train excursions are already operating in Ontario, notably the Agawa Canyon route and the Polar Bear Express to area is easily accessible by road.

While the feasibility study contains a good deal of what is termed "crystal ball" forecasting to estimate potential patronage on the excursion, it shows that approximately 25,900 people could be expected to ride the line in its first year of operation. In the second year, up to 35,000 might use the train, and from then on, a growth of less than five percent per year could be expected.

"These passenger estimates indicate (an) assessment of the potential of the proposed train excursion if it were developed and promoted as a major attraction, and not necessarily the actual number of passengers that the train would draw," the study states.

study states. "The quality of the operational plan and marketing strategy would determine whether the passenger potential could be reached."

The train would operate on a weekend and holiday schedule from May 23 to June 21, and from September 8 to October 12. For the weeks in between, it would run six days a week, for a total of 90 trips. A round trip from Lindsay to Haliburton and return, with stops at Fenelon Falls, Kinmount and Haliburton, would take about nine hours, the study says. To make the trip more attractive, a number of shorter options would have to be offered, allowing passengers to take a bus to Fenelon Falls and ride the train either to Haliburton or Lindsay. The study acknowledges that restaurant facilities in Haliburton are not adequate to meet the needs of the 200 or more passengers on the hour and a half stopover in Haliburton, but suggests that arrangements might be made with area resorts to provide lunch for passengers who could be bused from the village to the resorts and back.

Equipment acquisition would contribute substantially to the startup costs of the excursion, the report notes.

Cost of a 4-6-0 Ten Wheeler locomotive or a 2-8-0 Consolidation type, either of which could pull six or eight passenger cars on the slight grades encountered on the Lindsay/Haliburton line, would be in the range of $30,000 to $60,000. Extensive rehabilitation work might be required to bring an engine up to safety standards, however, and the total cost of the locomotive would be between $100,000 and $200,000, the study states.

As an alternative to purchasing a locomotive, one might be leased. The study says Art Eyres, one of the original proponents of the steam train, has located a locomotive in the U.S., which could be leased for $200 (U.S.) a day. In addition to the lease payments, transportation costs for the locomotive would also have to be met by the foundation operating the excursion. The study estimates those costs at $4,000.

The American locomotive has recently been reconditioned, and is oil fired, an important consideration since suitable coal for a locomotive is difficult to obtain, the study says. Used crankcase oil could be burned in the locomotive, and is available at between 15 cents and 20 cents a gallon.

To contribute to the historical flavour of the excursion, passenger coaches should be old models with windows that open, according to the study. Up to 12 of them would be needed at an estimated cost of $18,000 each, including rehabilitation work.

Rehabilitation and maintenance costs of the line itself are also expected to be large, and according to the report, "will have a major impact on the economic feasibility of operating a tourist train on the Haliburton subdivision."

If the Canadian Transport Commission grants CN's recent application to abandon the line, the operators of the tourist train would probably be responsible for improvements to and maintenance of the line. If the abandonment is denied, CN would be responsible for maintaining the line "and the operators of the steam train would have to reach some agreement on paying for use of the line," the study says. It adds that officials "were unwilling to discuss the nature of such an agreement pending the CTC decision."

Actual costs of rehabilitation could be much lower than the $600,000-plus figure CN used in its abandonment application, but that figure was used in the feasibility study as the "upper limit" of rehabilitation costs that might be incurred on the line.

Other major startup costs would be for a station in Lindsay, which could cost an estimated $100,000, a wye in Haliburton at a cost of $4000 to $5000, a platform in Fenelon Falls at a cost of $2,000, and a locomotive maintenance and storage shed in Lindsay at a cost of $120,000, excluding land. If a shed were built to house all the excursion's rolling stock, costs could be as high as $320,000, according to the study.

Staffing requirements for the train would depend on whether or not the line is abandoned. If it is not, and roadbed maintenance was done by CN, the line would

County considers changes to board after Bicroft electors press for seat

Haliburton County council has reluctantly agreed to consider redetermining the composition of the local board of education in the wake of pressure from separate school supporters in the Improvement District of Bicroft.

At a meeting last Wednesday, council declared its intention to review the board's composition before September 1, 1982, a move it hopes will calm a groundswell in the Bicroft separate school zone.

According to a letter from Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs official W. J. P. Jones to Bicroft secretary-treasurer Sandra McColl, a copy of which was forwarded to county council, separate school electors in Haliburton County are entitled to have at least one representative on the local board.

When the composition of the board is not in accordance with Section 57 of the Education Act (which allows for one separate school representative in addition to the 14 members who now sit on the board), a municipality may appeal to a judge, Jones letter states. The judge's determination would not be effective until the next election however, and Jones suggested the request to county council as an alternative.

Because there are no publicly funded separate schools beyond Grade 10 in Ontario, a declared separate school supporter is also a supporter of the public high school system. Where a separate school zone has been declared, as in Bicroft, separate school electors are entitled to have representation on the local protestant school board to vote on matters relating to secondary school education only. In the case of Cardiff Township, which includes Bicroft, students are sent to schools in Bancroft and the Haliburton County Board of Education pays fees to Hastings. Since the fees are paid by the Haliburton board, the separate school representative would sit in the county rather than on the Hastings board.)

Improvement District chairman Merideth Amm told the county that his council was approached on the matter, but did not want to do anything about it, because there is no separate school in Bicroft.

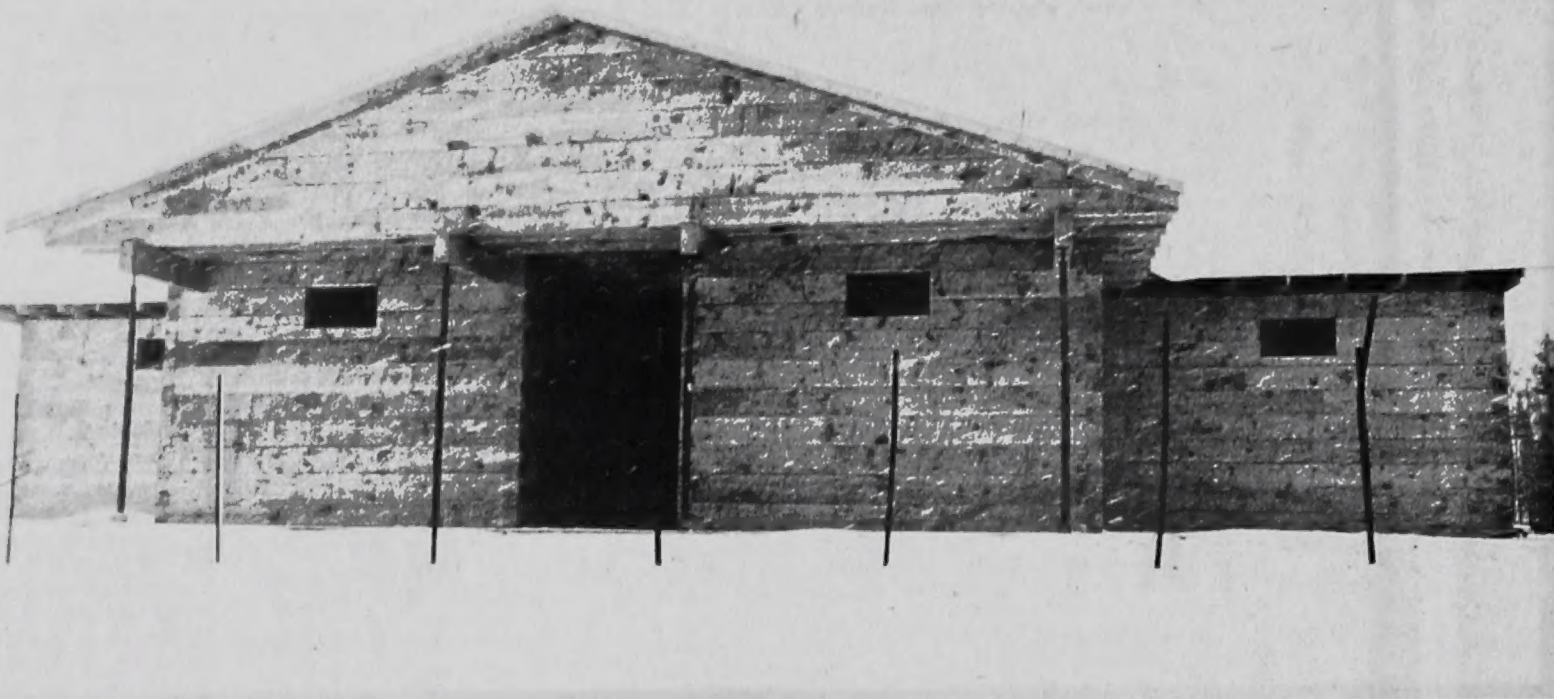

"We took the stand that if you (the separate school electors) want it, you get it," Amm said.

Council's main concern was that if a separate school elector were allowed to sit on

Alcoholism to be focus of social planning council

An open discussion on alcoholism with informative guest speakers will be hosted by the Haliburton County Social Planning Council this Thursday morning at the Lakeview Centre in Haliburton.

avoid as much confusion as possible during a disaster situation, Gray said. If a disaster situation did occur, plans would already be made for successful evacuations which would ensure people's safety, she added.

With this in mind, the committee will also be compiling figures on how many people could sleep in the area school's gymnasiums and which stores stock items such as blankets and food or other items that might be needed to help people in an emergency situation, Gray said. Although Gray said she could not project when the list might be completed, she said hopefully within six months.

Three guest speakers have been invited to discuss the problems caused by alcoholism and also a recent task force report on alcoholism which has included Haliburton village.

The committee feels the most likely time for a disaster to occur is during the summer months when the population swells well above normal levels. Once the list is completed, a co-ordinator will probably be appointed to oversee all activities while representatives will be named for each municipality in the county, Gray said. This committee will, in all likelihood, meet about once a year to discuss areas of concern in different parts of the county, Gray added. She said the emergency list will be updated annually, probably in April of each year, to keep the records current.

Bill Becks, director of the Addiction Research Foundation at Peterborough Civic Hospital, will discuss the findings of the task force report as well as other topics related to alcoholism.

Also invited to speak on the report's findings is Marshall J. P. Elliott, executive director of Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Council. The final speaker of the morning will be Sid Longford, employee counsellor with Canadian General Electric in Peterborough, who will discuss coping with alcoholism in the workplace.

All members of the public, including industry, business, education and the medical profession are invited to attend the meeting. Coffee begins at 9:30 a.m. followed by the discussion beginning at 10 a.m. The council's general business meeting will begin at 12 noon.

Icy roads contribute to weekend accidents

Jaqueline Hutchings, 16, of Haliburton, was headed east when the accident occurred on Saturday morning. The 1972 car sustained $2,000 damage. A Haliburton man was uninjured when his pickup truck rolled over along Highway 530 last Friday evening. Gunter Franke, 28, of Haliburton, was driving east when the truck hit the north shoulder and then rolled over in the ditch. Damage to the 1978 truck was estimated at $5,000. An Oshawa woman was charged with careless driving when she hit a parked car on Minden's main street last Friday night. Carleen Ackley, 19, was driving south when she stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. The car went out of control and hit a parked vehicle on the main street. Damage to Ackley's 1977 car was estimated at $700 while the 1978 pickup, owned by John Harrison, of Lutterworth Township, received $500 damage.

employ some 16 people, including an engineer, foreman, conductor/trainman, conductor's helper, four hosts, two full time and two part time administrative staff, two mechanics and two general labourers. If the excursion were responsible for track maintenance, up to four more employees would be required, the study notes. Other costs would include fuel, insurance, utilities, maintenance supplies, and advertising and public relations.

Total passenger revenues in the first year have been estimated at $215,000. In addition, sales of food and souvenirs would also generate revenue for the excursion. First year losses are estimated at $75,000.

A number of factors could reduce the startup and operating costs of the line, however, the study indicates. These include the use of volunteer labour, greater passenger revenue than estimated, lower track usage fees to CN than the $68,000 estimated in the report, government grants, and freight revenues of a steam excursion foundation gained ownership of the line and CN transported freight over it.

The report also notes that the steam train could help boost the economies of both counties by bringing more visitors into the area and by creating a number of jobs. Conclusions and recommendations of the report are:

- The steam train excursion appears to be able to sustain itself financially after the initial infusion of capital. - The promoters of the steam train concept should be encouraged to define in more detail the operating parameters of the system and their expectations of costs. - Potential government assistance for the concept should be explored, in the light of the beneficial impacts on tourism and the economy of the area. ...The Ministry of Industry and Tourism (should) be approached to discuss how much they might contribute to the concept in either capital or ongoing operating assistance. - Discussions should begin with CN as to the possible methods of working the railway of the abandonment is allowed or not allowed.

The CTC should be contacted to determine if the decision on the abandonment procedure is to be forthcoming in the near future. More detailed planning for the operation cannot really take place until this decision has been made. As yet, there is no indication of what steps Haliburton and Victoria County representatives will take as a result of the report.

Monmouth council minutes

At a meeting of Monmouth council November 3, the following matters were considered: Margaret Finlay and Keith Tallman declared a conflict of interest on the following motion and refrained from discussion and voting.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign the agreement between Charles Allan Scott and the Corporation of the Township of Monmouth regarding drainage easement over the Scott property and the agreement will be deposited on the title abstract for lot 34, concession 16 in the Land Registry Office at Minden.

One used scrubber will be purchased from Swish Maintenance, Peterborough, as per quotation from Glen Johnson. Reg Schofield was given permission to spend up to a maximum of $250 for a Monmouth Centennial Sign.

A pay phone will be installed in the Lloyd Watson Centre, and a phone is to be installed in the manager's office at the arena, council decided.

A representative will be invited to the next council meeting regarding the adoption of a Coat of Arms for the centennial year for the Township of Monmouth. By-law 80-23, a by-law to appoint a road superintendent was read a first, second and third time and passed as prepared.

Frank Baumhour and Glen Storey were hired for the position of wing man for the 1980-1981 season. In a recorded vote, council decided that Harvey Somerville be hired as full time employee for the municipality on three months probation. Voting yea were Mary Barker, Carman Coumbs, Keith Tallman. Voting nay were Margaret Finlay, Alan Revill.

Ross Casey was hired as a part time operator on a three month probationary period. Lloyd Barnes was paid the difference of $15 for four sheep killed by wolves. $75. has already been paid.

A letter will be sent to Haliburton Canadian Legion Branch 129 stating we do not want a wreath placed at the Cenotaph in memory of Jack Anderson. The council wish to have a wreath placed by Branch 624 Legion in memory of Jack Anderson and other Monmouth persons who died in the service of their country.

The road opposite Rock Lake Road going towards Wilberforce will be named Dillman's Road and the Ministry of Transportation and Communications will place a fingerboard at the corner.

The appointed Road Committee will attend the Good Roads Conference, council agreed.

Rabid animals are still a hazard.

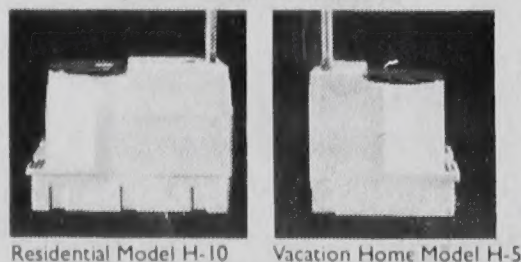

Rabies, which is spread by infected animals, continues to be a serious problem in Ontario. It is of special concern in built up areas where domestic and wild animals are infecting children who come in contact with them. Children should be warned to avoid stray pets, as well as wild animals, especially if they appear sick or friendly because these usually are signs that they are rabid. Pets should be regularly vaccinated and kept indoors at night. You can help to control rabies by reporting to your local police, humane society or health unit any pets or wild animals which are acting strangely. Do not handle your pet with bare hands immediately after it has fought with a rabid animal. Do not touch dead animals. Seek advice from a veterinarian. Contact your doctor or health unit immediately if your child or pet comes in contact with wild animals.

who elected him to the position.
"They sort of lost their voice, so to speak," he said.
"They never had the opportunity of seeing whether it was a good deal or a bad deal."

That was unfair," Elliott added.
Although Elliott knew a judge could not run for municipal office he said he was sure he was an eligible candidate for the election.
"Had I had any inkling or knowledge that this was going to happen I certainly would not have run," Elliott said.

After receiving the call from the Chief Justice, Elliott said he had to agree with his opinion.
Since Elliott has filed a disclaimer for office which also acts as a resignation, no action will be taken, Jones said.

However if the situation arose where a complaint was lodged against a candidate for illegally holding office whether it be through ineligibility, bribery or corruption, the candidate would have time to file a disclaimer. If the candidate refused, court action could follow, Jones said.
A recount for the final council seat involving candidates Ed Pergolas and Larry Cummins will be held on Wednesday, however this will not affect the vacancy created by Elliott's resignation.

The successful candidate of the recount will meet with the rest of council before the deadline for inaugural meetings and another member for council will be appointed.
Council is not compelled to choose the next closest candidate or any candidate, but must pick a person who is legally qualified to run for office in Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Company will continue building

Plane crashes on second test flight

A Haliburton company has announced that it will continue efforts to perfect a radical new seaplane design despite the crash Saturday of the prototype aircraft.

Len Creelman, president of Rodlen Aircraft Inc. said Monday that the prototype aircraft, dubbed "Seawind" had flown a successful initial flight at Drag Lake last Wednesday. The flight was one mile long and the aircraft reached a height of 100 feet.

Creelman said that following the flight, pilot Bruce Sinclair, a former Haliburton County resident now flying out of Calgary, indicated that he was pleased with the aircraft's flying characteristics but terminated the flight so that a possible pitch control problem could be evaluated before testing continued.

Saturday, on a second test flight, an apparent control malfunction caused the aircraft to veer and stall on takeoff. Sinclair escaped unhurt but the crash severely damaged the plane and caused the engine to shear off. It was located by divers Monday and is expected to be salvaged.

The damaged aircraft will not be rebuilt.

"As with any prototype, many minor functional and cosmetic changes are in order in any case," Creelman said,

"and a new prototype is being planned."

Because the aircraft is made entirely of fiberglass, and the molds used for the prototype can be used again, the builders expect a new prototype will be ready for flight testing by June.

If the aircraft is successful, the company hopes to begin manufacturing and marketing it in kit form to home builders, a light industry that could create up to 10 jobs.

Despite Saturday's setback, Creelman said he is confident that the design can be perfected, and expressed appreciation to those who have given support and encouragement to the project.

Bicroft seeks board seat

the board, one current representative would have to be dropped, keeping the board's composition at 14 members and denying representation to a township, probably Cardiff. But director of education J. Douglas Hodgson said in a telephone interview this week that in his understanding of the provisions of Section 57 of the Education Act, a separate school representative would sit in addition to the present 14 members, determined by population and distributed among municipalities according to assessment.

Council felt a meeting should be set up with school board officials, Bicroft electors, county council representatives and the Ministry of Education to determine if a Bicroft representative could sit on the Hastings Board.

But, according to Hodgson, the representative must sit on the board which receives the taxes, not the board which educates the students. He indicated the ministry is unlikely to change the regulations, since many similar situations have long existed across the province.

The matter is expected to surface at the county level again, if not in the next few months, then in early 1982, when a review of the board's composition will have to be undertaken.

A good idea that would cost too much

Imagine the shrill call of a steam locomotive's whistle echoing through the hills of the Highlands. Imagine the thunder of exhausting cylinders, the creaking of old-fashioned passenger cars and the clamour of 200 passengers stepping down to the platform at the Rails' End Gallery. The images are exciting and romantic, stirring memories of an era long gone. But will they be seen again, given the realities of contemporary economics?

To find out, the counties of Victoria and Haliburton, along with the Ministry of Industry and Tourism, funded a feasibility study to examine a proposal from two Lindsay area businessmen for a steam train excursion on the Lindsay-Haliburton line. The report was released last week, and although its tone is generally positive, the estimated cost breakdown it contains makes it clear that the tourist train will probably never run.

As the report prepared by the IBI Group notes, the steam tourist train is an interesting concept. There are other train excursions in the province which draw substantial ridership, but at the moment, there is no regularly scheduled steam excursion covering more than a few miles. A steam train on the Lindsay-Haliburton line would be a major tourist attraction, bringing people into the area who otherwise would not visit the Highlands. The train would provide a number of jobs, increased tourist trade and a multiplier effect that could significantly bolster the local economy.

Despite the probable benefits, however, it seems likely that high costs and other complications will defeat the tourist train proposal.

According to the report, capital expenditures for rolling stock, track rehabilitation, a station and engine storage building in Lindsay, platforms and other equipment could be as high as $1 million. That amount could never be repaid from anticipated revenues. If the initial expenditures could be completely discounted (an unlikely prospect) the train might make a marginal profit in its second year, after first year losses in the order of $75,000. Even if the government could be convinced to provide grants to offset a portion of the startup costs, the steam train would require substantial capital from some other source, presumably the taxpayers of Haliburton and Victoria Counties.

A second major stumbling block in the way of the train concept is the line itself. CN's application for abandonment is now being considered by the Canadian Transport Commission. If the abandonment is granted, a foundation hoping to operate the excursion would have to obtain title to the line and meet rehabilitation and ongoing maintenance costs. If CN must continue to maintain the line, the foundation would have to negotiate a user agreement. So far, the railway has refused to discuss the steam train proposal with consultants, and it seems likely that any agreements for use of the line would be complex and costly, if they could be obtained at all.

There is little doubt that the steam train would be a boon to the area. But the economic barriers that must be faced may well prove insurmountable. A close look at the conclusions of the feasibility study makes it clear that the steam tourist train will remain a dream unless the politicians of Haliburton and Victoria Counties are willing to commit hundreds of thousands of local tax dollars to its operation, year after year.

People and politics being what they are, that simply won't happen.

The plan no one wants to see used

The formulation of a county wide disaster plan may not pique the interest of most county citizens, but the project is an important one that deserves support. Since the idea of the plan first surfaced at a meeting called by Minden OPP sergeant Bill Bailey, earlier this year, a committee has been working to complete a comprehensive guidebook that could be used in the event of major mishaps involving large numbers of citizens.

The plan will include lists of every piece of equipment, facility, service, or skilled individual who might be needed in the event a disaster strikes the county.

Those working on the project, and those who through their cooperation are supporting the effort, deserve the thanks of the community. The plan may never have to be used. But county residents can breathe a little easier knowing that if disaster strikes, the plan will enable manpower, equipment and supplies to be mobilized swiftly.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Completing a two-year term of office as councillor in Glamorgan, I wish to reflect on the political revival that has taken place. The three main issues which spark the dormant community spirit in different community groups were the zoning by-law, the road superintendency and the community centre. Council invariably found itself weighing factors in the decision-making process. What is the best possible decision under the circumstances? How are the interests of the majority and minority supporters being served? When does the council decide to take leadership decisions leaving rhetoric and partisan interests behind? Where is the line when seasonal and permanent residents disagree? How far can a municipal budget be stretched without collapsing, as demands for services, particularly roads, out-strip financial resources? With these questions in mind, decision making sometimes appears like a game of snakes and ladders. The die is thrown and you don't always know where you are going to land.

Difficult decisions have a way of bringing out the community to take stands on issues. Pressure and lobby groups help to shape issues. Unfortunately, many decisions involve conflict which becomes defined into win-lose situations that are not always helpful in problem solving. This situation can even confuse and split communities.

My hope is that council, ratepayers associations, and the cottagers association in Glamorgan, in spite of a floundering start, will come together in a common purpose that will help council members to make decisions based on broad input from its citizens. A high ideal? No, not really. Just individual persons exercising a neglected aspect of the municipal process: participation.

Councillor

As others see it

Canadians have a world-wide reputation for being careful with their hard-earned dollars.

To most of us, that view held by others seems difficult to understand. We look in our own pockets and sometimes comes up with more fluff than hard cash.

Still it's difficult to quarrel with some cold statistics.

For example, it's hard to believe but definitely true there are more personal savings accounts in Canadian banks than there are Canadians. At that, the more than 25 million of such individual accounts doesn't even take into consideration savings accounts in trust companies, co-ops and caisses populaires.

Even when inflation is considered, the cash amount in these bank accounts has grown phenomenally in recent years, just about doubling over the latest five years to reach almost $70 billion. That works out to an average of around $2,700 -- not exactly the savings of big-time financial wheeler-dealers.

One surprising fact is the jump in savings recently when costs of everything we buy have been rising. Government statistics indicate the rate of savings was at 12% of personal disposable income in mid-1979 which is four times as high as in the United States and about a 20% jump from the pattern of the past few years.

Calculation of that savings proportion of personal disposable income would include "savings" made when you pay down part of the mortgage, pay off a bank loan or a car. You may still feel you owe too much money, but the fact that you are chewing away at your obligations does represent savings.

Another source of savings that doesn't show in those bank savings accounts is money invested in savings pools such as Retirement Savings Plans. People in the financial business say their sales of RSP's boomed early this year, just before tax time, as Canadians did some astute personal financial planning to defer part of their income taxes.

One indicator of how people save through investment shows up in the most recent statistics compiled by The Investment Funds Institute of Canada. In the first quarter of 1980, sales by Investment Funds Institute members jumped 90% at $250 million when compared with sales in the first three months of 1979.

"The first quarter normally is the busiest period of the year as Canadians set aside contributions to Registered Retirement Savings Plans," noted Keith A. Douglas, Institute president. "But this year has been unusually active for the industry." It's interesting to note also that the increases in the rate of inflation has worried savers to the extent that they are obviously seeking saving alternatives. The statistics illustrate dramatic evidence of this -- sales of equity funds (those invested in common shares) jumped by a remarkable 244% over 1979.

And we haven't even had a chance to look into tea pots and piggy banks or what might be tucked underneath mattresses.

Some of the local hockey fans were in Toronto recently and took in the hockey game between the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Edmonton Oilers at Maple Leaf Gardens. Many of the boys who went down to the game are friends of Bryan Watson the new coach of the Oilers who has a summer home at Eagle Lake and spends most of the off season here in the Highlands and during July and August is one of the instructors at the Haliburton Hockey Haven. In an interview with the Toronto Star he had this to say. "Things have changed a great deal in the game since I came up," Watson said. "Really, I was a Montreal Canadian when I was 14. That was when I left home (in Bancroft) and joined Peterborough Petes, a Canadian farm team. I had coaches like Scotty Bowman and Frank Mario, who prepared us in the Canadian system." Called "Bugsy" during his 16-season National Hockey League playing career with six teams and the second most penalized player in NHL history, Watson is the rookie coach of the Edmonton Oilers, a young club - average age, 23.6 years - that has staggered through the early portion of the 1980-81 season. The Oilers are off to a shaky start but we wish them the best of luck the rest of the way. This column was written prior to the release of Bryan Watson as coach of the Oilers.

The staff of the Bank of Montreal, Haliburton branch in co-operation with the Salvation Army in Haliburton are sponsoring a "Warm and Woolley Tree" which will be located in the Bank of Montreal in the Village of Haliburton. In the spirit of Christmas, they are hopeful that the citizens of the community will knit mittens, scarfs, toques, slippers and socks and place them on the "Warm and Woolley Tree". On or about December 22nd the items will be delivered to the Salvation Army to be distributed to needy families in the surrounding area. The tree will be available to place your knitted items on starting December 15th.

A fast growing sport in Canada at the present time is cross country skiing. It's becoming very popular and more and more people are purchasing skis in an effort to take part in the action and to take the opportunity to view the countryside. The Haliburton Highlands Cross Country Club will have held its annual meeting on Tuesday evening. Why not keep fit and join the club? For those who enjoy downhill skiing, it's Sir Sam's Inn at Eagle Lake where they have one of the best ski hills in Ontario. Before we do any skiing we will have to have a lot more snow than we have at the present time.

On two or three occasions now the service clubs of Haliburton and area have got together for joint meetings at the Legion Hall at Haliburton. These meetings as far as I am concerned have served a two-fold purpose. The first one is the fact that if these meetings don't accomplish anything else they do serve the purpose of bringing all of the people together so that everyone present can get to know the other person that much better. Secondly, the clubs can pool their talent and resources and make sure that one club doesn't overlap the other on various projects. The four clubs that have been involved in these meetings have been the Rotary, Legion, Kinsmen and Lions. I personally would like to see the day come when all four clubs would get together for one major project.

We would like to remind you that anyone wishing to make a financial contribution to the "Grenville Stamp Trust Account" may do so by making a deposit to the account in the Bank of Montreal, Haliburton or mailing it to Box No. 542, Haliburton, Ontario. We would like to thank everyone for their generosity in this most worthwhile cause.

The District Governor for District 701, Tom Elliott, paid his visit to the Rotary Club of Haliburton on Thursday, November 13. He brought along a great message for the club members and delivered a light-hearted speech covering many aspects of Rotary and his experiences as governor. During his talk he stressed time and time again, the importance of all Rotary members to take time to serve. Some of the Rotary Anns acted as host at a dinner get-together to welcome Mrs. Elliott on the same evening.

Just the other day Ivan Hagerman, a former teacher of mine who now resides at Downsview, Ontario, sent in a cheque to cover his subscription to The Echo and attached a short note with it. He said to please convey his very best regards to everyone in Haliburton and area. He also went on to say that he was not able to get up for a hunt this year but that big buck will just have to grow that much bigger for next year. He sends along his thanks for making the six years he spent in Haliburton the best of his life.

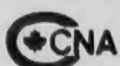

Better late than never and there's still plenty of honest people in the world. I noticed in the Toronto Star recently where Kay Robins of Toronto borrowed a book from the library 40 years ago and was "stunned" when she found it in her basement two weeks ago. She promises to take it right back and pay the fine - children's maximum of 50 cents still applies.

Each and every year around Christmas time everyone starts talking about peace on earth, goodwill toward men. In past years it has been nothing but cheap talk, but this year going to be a time when it becomes a reality? Let's hope and pray that all countries in the world will get together and that talk of war will vanish and that we will all live in a world of brotherly love.

Just a reminder here that power skating is available Fridays from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. It's being sponsored by the Haliburton Figure Skating Club. The instructor is Mark Gignac, HFSC Pro. Hockey players welcome. For more information call W. Byers at 457-1306.

Haliburton's first Baptist Church built 1909

In our Pic of the Past this week we show the First Baptist Church in Haliburton which was started in 1904 and completed in 1909. It was located on Highland Street directly across from the Government Dock and part of the same building is still standing and is the present home of the Western Tire. Previous to the building of the church, the Black Bear hotel whose proprietors kept two bears and a fox as pets was situated on this location. This building was torn down about 1899 and replaced by Haliburton's First Baptist Church. The beautiful red brick building served the ever growing congregation until late in 1960 when the new cement block church on Park Street opened its doors. It was officially dedicated on March 12, 1961.

Open House at Minden M.N.R.

The Ministry of Natural Resources at Minden are holding an Open House at their Minden facilities this Saturday, November 29th from noon to 4:00 p.m. The purpose is to show and explain the background information they have prepared which will be used to develop a strategy for their future programmes in the Minden district.

The Minden District Land Use Strategy should be of interest to you if you fish, hunt, cut timber, hike or canoe. After viewing and discussing the background information and the alternative strategies the ministry invites comments from the public and various organizations towards the implementation of their formal plan.

How to Read Financial Statements and Plan for Expansion

Most of us pay our auditors a considerable sum of money each year to prepare a financial statement and tend to consider the exercise as something necessary to please the government and their tax department. The Federal Business Development Bank is running a one day seminar at the PineStone Inn on Tuesday, December 2 to show you how much more can be gained from that document. There will be a review of what to look for in your statement and how to best use it for making sound decisions and take the guess work out of financial planning. If the future of your business is important to you -- don't miss this opportunity!

For more information and to register for the seminar call Alex McLeod in Peterborough at 748-3241.

Ministry Event Books

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism Winter Book is now available in our office to anyone who may wish to become aware of winter events throughout the province. The book is distributed free of charge and with the thrust of the provinces "Yours to Discover" promotion going towards specific events it has become widely used as a reference by potential visitors.

Some of the information in the book about the Highlands is incorrect. That is a result of our office not being able to obtain specific dates for annual events well in advance and sometimes guessing at when they would be -- or if they in fact would take place. Rather than take the chance of handing out incorrect information it may be better to hand out none at all. Therefore we urge all those wishing to contact the Chamber to help publicize your coming events to contact the Chamber office at 286-1760.

Spring events, those taking place in March, April or May, must be provided to the ministry by December 1. At this point in time we have one to submit. Do you know of any?

Christmas Suggestion

Several excellent books about Haliburton County are currently available and would make excellent gifts to anyone with an interest in the Highlands who has not yet read them. "In Quest of Yesterday" and "Dream of Excellence" both by Nila Reynolds are both in the stores in hard cover and selling at $5.95 and $4.95, respectively. A new publication this year is "Echoes of the Past", an 84 page illustrated edition which includes many fine pictures and interesting stories of two Muskoka and ten Haliburton townships. This work was compiled and written by Ed Devitt, former owner of Camp Comak on Lake St. Nora, with contributions from Nila Reynolds. It sells for $6.95.

Another suggestion, if you are into sewing and making things is something made up of our own beautiful Haliburton Highlands Tartan available in 100% pure wool at only $19.95 per yard. If your local merchants don't have the books or the tartan call the Chamber office -- we've got them.

There's nothing worse than having your wife go off and leave you to cope all alone for a couple of weeks. Unless it's having her arrive home a day early and finding you up to your waist in your own filth, that you were going to clean up tomorrow.

That has happened to me once, but this time I'm going to do the clean-up a day earlier. First time it happened, she was unbearable for about a week, just because there were three or four bottles of sour milk, a one-inch patina of grease on the stove, and a kitchen floor you could hardly walk across without getting stuck somewhere.

I'll give a hot tip to some of you middle-aged guys who think your old lady has a soft touch. You know: a lazy coffee and read the paper after you've gone to work, a little dusting and a few dishes to do; a leisurely lunch watching a soap opera; a little nap, and then nothing to do but get your dinner ready.

It's not quite like that. To keep a fair-sized house in anything like running order, a woman must go like a jack-rabbit. Or a jillrabbit, if you think I'm being chauvinistic.

Migawd, I've barely time to brush my teeth, shave and get to work in the morning, leaving the breakfast dishes all tangled up with last night's dinner dishes, because I was too tired to do them, and there was a good movie on the tube.

Get home after work and there's all this mess of dishes, but I don't have time to do them. I have to go shopping for my dinner -- a pizza or a turkey pie and a banana and some pears for breakfast.

Get home from shopping and I barely have the energy to stick my dinner in the oven, pour myself a relaxer, and read the evening paper. After dinner, I pile some more dishes in the sink, give them a dirty look, and toddle off to mark papers or fall asleep in front of the tube, waking up at 2 a.m., cold and stupid, to fall into my unmade bed and nightmare away about my wife having left me for good. Which she could. Anytime.

Totter up in the morning, do my ablutions, and go down to a cheerless kitchen, with nobody snapping out the orders of the day. I'm always late for work when she's away, because when she's home I try to get away early so I won't have to get into a fight about who's going to call the plumber, why I am so incompetent around the house, and why I got a $28.00 fine for not wearing my seatbelt.

I don't deny that there have been times when I wished I were a bachelor, carefree, sexy, dining out with beautiful women, taking off, alone, for exotic holidays.

But boy-o-boy, when the laundry hamper is overflowing, your last clean shirt is a white T-shirt with a burnhole on the belly, the dishes are beginning to resemble the Great Pyramid, and the only clean socks you have left are white wool golf type, you begin to appreciate the Old Battleaxe.

If I have one more turkey pie, I'm not going to grow waffles. Those I already have, the penalty of sagging jowls. But there is a distinct possibility that I might begin to gobble. One more frozen lasagna and I'll be singing arias. In Italian.

Actually, I can cope. I can keep myself clean, dressed, and fed. But it's the extras of housework that are destroying me. Like dealing with aluminum window salesmen, brickworkers, painters, plumbers and electricians. My wife does all that, normally.

I haven't a clue where she keeps her bills, her cheque-book, and all the sundries. I was frightfully embarrassed this week when a plumber came to finish a job, and I couldn't pay his bill. I dug out all my cash and with 42 cents short. He was a good type.

and told me to forget it. My wife would have given him a cheque for the exact amount. I got a receipt, I think, which I'll probably lose.

Perhaps, this all sounds materialistic, and not at all the sentimental nonsense a husband should feel when his wife is away, spoiling his grandchildren. Well, it is.

I've written her a hundred or two love-letters. I've told her how beautiful she was, on many occasions. I have complimented her on her brains, her innate common-sense, and anything else I could dredge up.

I have admired her good taste in clothes and decorating. I have tried to buck her up when she is depressed. I have listened to her. Endlessly. In short, I have been an almost perfect husband. I just threw in that "almost".

But the simple fact is, she's got to get home and get the joint running again. I can't even find the television programmes I want, because she knows that channel 2 is really channel 10 and channel 3 is channel 14 and channel 6 is all French. I just flip the dial around hopefully.

But what really gets me is the fingernails on my right hand. I can cut my toenails. I can cut the fingernails on my left hand. But she has to cut the ones on my right hand. And they're about half an inch long. Get home, mama.

Community conference held

At the instigation of the Ontario Arts Council, the Ontario Ministry of Culture and Recreation, and the Canada Arts Council, a conference related to community "arts" development was held in Owen Sound in April, 1979 to discuss and study the effectiveness of community arts councils (festivals) which were being organized to promote cultural enrichment, and participation throughout Ontario. The first conference was a resounding success and led to a second conference - Directions '80 which was held recently at the Constellation Hotel, Toronto, November 6-9 and hosted by Arts Etobicoke.

Jim Brown, founder and first chairman of the Victoria

County Spring Festival of the Arts addressed the conference and outlined the development of the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts, which is completely community orientated. Delegates to the conference were from many parts of Canada, the United States, New Zealand and Australia. Brown said he was amazed to discover that annual reports of the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts have been circulated to arts organizations all over Canada, by the Ontario Arts Council and that many people regard the format, aims, and objectives of the festival to be unique in bringing the "arts" community forward to be recognized and appreciated on a county-wide basis.

Queen's Park Report

by MPP John Eakins

You will no doubt be aware that the treasurer's mini-budget eliminated the 7 percent sales tax on furniture, many household appliances, building materials and new light trucks and vans. In fact there will be up to $700 sales tax rebates on purchases of new light trucks and vans weighing 9,000 pounds or less. These measures will apply until next June 30. A new cabinet committee headed by the treasurer will get $750 million to spur economic and regional development during the next five years. Also the government want to mount a three-year program, starting by early 1982, to cushion the effect of sharp increases in home heating costs on people with low or fixed incomes. Rural Ontario Hydro customers will receive rebates totalling $20 million next year to offset the high rates they pay compared to urban users.

Hydro Grant

Liberal House Leader Robert Nixon commented that the already announced increase of 11.2 percent in rural hydro rates starting next year, and amounting to $57 million, will more than offset the $20 million rebate scheme in the mini-budget. The Energy Minister stated that the grant would mean a $35 reduction next year for a rural household using more than 250 kilowatt hours a month. However, the increase to take effect January will raise the cost of using 1,000 kwh a month nearly $5 to $47.60.

Dangerous Trucking

Changes in provincial law provide for fines of up to $50,000 for anyone illegally trucking dangerous goods, and will also make it possible for truckers to keep their licences to drive if they can prove medical conditions such as diabetes won't affect their jobs. The Dangerous Goods Transportation Act will be enforced by provincial Transport Ministry officials and the OPP. Separate amendments to the Highway Traffic Act provide for greater flexibility in medical regulations.

Education Bill

All parents of exceptional children will have the right to appeal school board decisions about placement of their children under a Liberal amendment added to a special education bill. The Minister of Education was initially opposed to a universal appeal mechanism, saying it would cause excessive litigation. However, she and her party decided to back the amendment, which was opposed by the NDP.

Other Matters

The Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations is being pressured to produce documents on the tangled affairs of three financial companies. James Bradley (Lib. St. Catharines) charged the government with "using the sub judice rule to hide" possible government maladministration in matters affecting people's life savings. Pat Reid of Rainy River (Chairman of Public Accounts Committee) has stated that the government is being conned by consulting firms to the tune of $4,742,000 more last year than they were entitled to under their original contracts.

Report from Parliament

by MP Bill Scott

The joint House of Commons/Senate Constitution Committee began its deliberations on Thursday, November 6, and so far all of its sessions have been stormy and contentious.

It is becoming increasingly clear that Prime Minister Trudeau's Constitution Resolution is unacceptable to all of the provinces and regions of our country, and it has received a rough reception from all of the groups and individuals that have appeared before the committee to date.

The Right Honourable Joe Clark, Conservative Leader and Leader of the Official Opposition in the House, has charged that Prime Minister Trudeau is threatening the very future of the Canadian Confederation.

Mr. Trudeau's Constitution Resolution, Finance Minister MacEachen's disastrous October budget and Energy Minister Marc Lalonde's outrageous energy policies, taken together, are designed to tear our country apart.

Mr. Clark told an audience in Ottawa last week that these three policies are driving a wedge into the country. He said that the mass exodus of oil drilling companies is robbing Ontario of orders for vehicles and equipment, which will result in more lay-offs in our industries.

He also said that the government's flair for creating conflicts and disputes is holding back Canada's potential to grow economically, and is fanning the fires of Western separatism.

Mr. Clark has been touring the country, urging Canadians to oppose Mr. Trudeau policies and methods, but not on a regional or provincial basis. He says that Canadians should hold together in support of our country as well as opposition to the Liberal government in Ottawa.

In an obvious attempt to sell its policies in the West, the Prime Minister's office invited an Edmonton journalist to come to Ottawa for a briefing. They must have been shocked and dismayed at what he wrote when he returned home.

He said, "Prime Minister Trudeau has never looked more tired, or sounded more testy and is showing the strain of every one of his 61 years."

"The total impression left was that of a man at the last gasp of an obsessive drive towards the one thing he wants more than anything in the world - his own, private Constitution."

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

Last week we talked about the planned development of Ontario's first trans-provincial public snowmobile trails and of the potential benefits to commerce that such a trail might bring with it. A project of this immensity is naturally fraught with some problems, so let us look now at a specific problem and what is being done to resolve it.

The problem, basically, is that for years snowmobile trails were developed with a North-South alignment, mainly because north meant better snow conditions on the trails. The O.F.S.C. committee, now charged with the responsibility of establishing an East-West route (SNO ONE) from Kincardine to Alexandria, must select a route that is at once practical from the standpoint of snow cover and sufficiently direct to attract the cross-country rider. It must be groomable in its entirety and every inch of it open to the snowmobiling public. The dilemma, then, is how to connect a series of North-South trails for an East-West alignment without going too far south and running out of snow or too far north from centres of snowmobiler population.

The problem appears to have been satisfactorily resolved in the eastern sector, Alexandria to the Tweed-Campbellford area, and in the western sector, Bradford-Barrie area to Kincardine, for the proliferation of snowmobile clubs in those sectors has made the task of route selection relatively easy, but in the central sector a final decision has not yet been made. It may, in fact, come much closer to Haliburton than we had earlier anticipated!

Representatives of five area snowmobile clubs and the O.F.S.C. met last week in Bobcaygeon to discuss possible routing alternatives. The group ruled out the (apparently) easier to establish Rice Lake-Port Perry proposal of the Central Ontario Regional Snowmobile Association as being too far south for dependable snow. A more central and more direct alignment, from the Havelock area to Eastern Lake Simcoe, was found to have two undeveloped sections which would be difficult to complete in time for the January opening of the trail. It was agreed that more serious consideration should be given to looping the trail northward where a satisfactory linkage of North-South routes is already well established. No commitments were made however.

Some advantages of a Haliburton loop became immediately apparent. It is a popular snowmobiling region with abundant accommodations making it an ideal layover point midway on the trans-provincial trail. It enjoys a longer snowmobiling season with more than adequate snowfall. The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association and the Paudash Trail Blazers are equipped to meet increasing demands for trail grooming. And the projected Eganville Alternative, as well as the Dorset Detour, can best be tied into the main trail right here at Haliburton.

It is, of course, too early to predict with any degree of certainty that SNO ONE will come this way. It might not. With so little time remaining to study alternatives, the O.F.S.C. may be forced into accepting the southern route, but if they do, it would be our guess that lack of snow there will demand a reassessment of the situation. Shouldn't we help them to make the right decision the first time? We think we should try!

age players Glen Evans, Steve Smith and Paul Vuksic in addition to Miget regulars Scott Rae and Dave Nichols for Friday night's game against Midland.

Midland players racked up nine minors. Saturday, the Huskies were at home against Gravenhurst, the top team in the league, and considering the level of competition, the local squad did well.

At the 3:03 mark of the opening period, Gravenhurst tallied to move in front 1 - 0 and at the 14:34 mark, they scored again to make it 2 - 0. The Huskies could not find the mark throughout the period.

Just 28 seconds into the second frame, Gravenhurst scored again but the Huskies came back, narrowing the gap to two at 9:24, when Roger Hicks teamed up with Hodgson and Ron Yake.

A little over 15 minutes into the period, Gravenhurst again beat Dave Elstone to make it 4 - 1. But at the 17:54 mark, the Huskies again moved to within two goals as Mike Rae tallied from Hodgson and Yake.

Exactly one minute later, Gravenhurst stretched their lead to three and that's the Huskies defeated in straight games

Team travelled unnecessarily to Parry Sound in schedule mix-up

It was to have been a three game weekend for the Haliburton Huskies but it turned out to be two games and a lieously ride to Parry Sound on Sunday for a game that wasn't. A discrepancy between the draft schedule and the official one had gone unnoticed, and the Huskies had no choice but to come home.

Perhaps it was just as well, for although it meant players and coaches missed most of what had to be one of the most mismatched Grey Cup games on record, it also meant they had more time to regroup after losing Friday and Saturday night.

Missing Shaun Chapman, Roger Hicks, Don Manary, Mike Scheffie and Ed Roberts to two game suspensions for fighting, and without the services of Kevin O'Hara, the Huskies had to use Midget

It proved to be a long night for goaltender Dave Elstone as he kicked out 45 shots while the Midland netminder handled only 20 on the way to a 7 - 1 victory.

In the second period, the Huskies looked like they might come back when Mike Rae teamed up with Chris Hodgson and Darin MacInnis on a power play to narrow the gap to one. But it was all the Huskies could get that night.

Midland re-established the two goal gap less than two minutes later, and at the 11 minute mark, with Dean Potter sitting out a slashing call, their power play clicked to make it 4 - 1.

The Huskies hung on for the rest of the period, and well into the third, but at the 11:12 mark, Midland notched their fifth.

They rounded out their victory with goals at 12:22 way the period ended.

In the third period it was too late for the Huskies, as Gravenhurst made it 6 - 2 at 6:10.

The Huskies only goal of the period came at 9:40 off the stick of Yake, assisted by Hodgson and Rob Abbs.

The team will get a chance to rest up a little this week with only one game scheduled, for Saturday night at home when they'll take on Huntsville. Game time is 8:30.

Haliburton OMHA Pee Wees take Minden, Bobcaygeon

Haliburton's OMHA Pee Wees were in top form over the weekend as they defeated both Bobcaygeon and Minden.

On Friday night, Haliburton downed Bobcaygeon 5 - 3 on home ice while they travelled to Minden Saturday night to blank the home team 3 - 0.

In the first period of Friday's game the teams seemed evenly matched until Haliburton scored its first goal off the stick of Tran LaRue assisted by Ian Cooper and Darryl Tunall.

The hometown team managed to keep Bobcaygeon down until early in the second period when Haliburton put another marker in the net to bring the score to 2 - 0. Cory McKnight scored the goal unassisted.

Bobcaygeon then started to fight back with a goal about five minutes later followed by another goal during a power play with a Haliburton player sitting on the penalty bench.

With the score tied at two goals apiece Haliburton took the lead on a power play goal by Kent Bannister, unassisted. The score rounded out at 3 - 2 for Haliburton at the end of the second period.

Haliburton atoms play tough game

HOW TO SAVE ENERGY ON THE ROAD.

Your energy is valuable, but it's easy to save. Here are some tips to help all drivers stop wasting our valuable energy.

1. Don't speed. Staying below 90 kph uses about 20 per cent less fuel than speeding at 110 kph.
2. Accelerate smoothly and steadily. Sudden starts force too much fuel into the engine, fuel that just gets wasted instead of being burned efficiently.
3. Brake slowly and evenly. Anticipate stops and ease up on the accelerator earlier.
4. Using the recommended octane grade for your car, avoiding unnecessary idling and using an automatically timed block heater in winter are other easy ways to cut down on energy use... and cost.

Many arts and crafts on display

Gallery features county's best

Anyone left in Haliburton County who still doesn't know about the scores of talented artists and artisans living in their midst, should make it a point to visit the Rails' End Station Gallery this week. Inside, they'll find a show made up of some of the best works of members of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts have produced.

The works on display run the gamut of artistic mediums, from pottery and wood-working to weaving, quilting, batik, painting and photography. Individually, many of the works are striking. Taken together, they serve to demonstrate the breadth of talent that is making the county a hive of artistic activity.

Close to 40 individuals and groups have contributed works to the show.

The largest pieces on display are quilts which were made by Doreen Rae, Elaine Jackson, Lise Ainsley, the Eagle Lake women, and Jane Selbie. Selbie is also represented by a pencil drawing, embroidery and an applique work.

Carol McLean has provided a number of clay sculptures to the show, and pottery items made by Barbara Peel, Gloria Carnochan, Marie Blair, Sharon Barclay and Pat Irwin are also on display.

Planters in various materials are the work of Gladys Fajar.

The walls are also hung with paintings, drawings and serigraphs by area artists Debbie Bates, Edna J. Mark, Frank Gough, S. E. Barnes, Maureen Gough, Alfred Muma and Johannes Moraal.

Wicker work in the show is by Joan Pearson and Robert McLagan. McLagan has also provided handcrafted wooden toys, as have the workers at ARC Industries, Haliburton.

Large stained glass pieces are the work of Miriam Lewis and Keith Stephenson.

Other works in the show include rag dolls and an apple doll by Nancy Woodcock; batik and a silk shirt by Mary Wallace; a wood suit, woven pots and boots by Donna Vander Wekken; wool sweaters by Barbara Peel; woven pots by Lise Ainsley; wool top oy Nancy Hubbert; wall hanging by Margit Moraal; lamp by Gloria Carnochan; handbags by Barbara Peel and Nancy Hubbert; a hand-woven jacket by Taylor Wilkins; a jute wallhanging by P.J. Haltore; batik by Mary Dewey; harvest theme wall-hangings by Janice Archer; and photography by Al Oakley.

It's a show with plenty of variety and one that provides a capsule look at the range of skills and materials local artists and artisans command.

Another birthdate party is looming ahead for November and in preparation a group of ladies - Flossie Burk, Vivian Bowen, Lila Simmons, Norcen Stevens, Christina McCrae, Hazel Parish, Vera Griffin and Maude Weston, baked a huge miracle whip chocolate cake, enough for everyone and some guests. Instructions were provided by Pat Burk, director.

Already there is quite a layer of frost in the soil that a round mouth shovel will not penetrate so that many of the forest tender roots are now probably frozen like calla lilies for instance. If we get a soft spell we may try to retrieve those that we have.

An Ontario Hydro news item is predicting possible black-outs ahead to users served by the Douglas Point generators. Hydro wanted to build a second stand-by line but people protests forbid it. If Douglas Point needs to be shut down, power from without will be hard to get in. Could that be one of the drawbacks of people who are not knowledgeable having title to portions of a surveyed hydro right of way? Fortunately here in Haliburton there is so much crown land that no one owns, that Hydro can build where they wish.

Wednesday morning we had another session at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to represent the

A.: This is a very interesting facet of human experience and is in the realm of right or wrong, wisdom or folly, good or bad or so on. To make a decision one must first collect all of the information we can get on the subject, (never enough). That is why physicians do such exhaustive

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

Events to remember include St. James A.C.W. annual Xmas bazaar and tea party at St. James Hall, December 6, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Come one, come all and enjoy.

The Santa Claus parade will be live, again this year in "Coby", December 7, ending up at the Legion where Santa will say a personal "hi" to kids young and old.

Congratulations to Mrs. Harrison of Bobcaygeon on her win of $160. jackpot, at St. Joseph's Hall in Bobcaygeon last Monday night.

Ida and Clyde Parry of "Coby" were dinner guests at the Pyke home in Norland, Monday night. I hope your back is feeling better soon Clyde.

The Intveens hosted a "euchre and dirty rat party" recently and some of the guests included were: Mr. and Mrs. Michael Murphy who flew in from Calgary and Mr. Peter Crossley, travelling from Flockton, Yorkshire, England. Then, Sunday evening the Murphys flew back to Calgary with Mr. Crossley departing on Thursday, promising to return on a more permanent basis. It was a pleasant weekend and enjoyed by all.

Congratulations to Kathleen and Terry Hartin of Kinmount who were blessed with a wee son, John James, this past week.

November 19 euchre results at Galway Hall were: men's high, John Hickey; men's low, Jack Shedden, ladies' high, "Joe" Davidson; ladies' low, Brenda Longhurst and most lone hands, Ken Young. Prizes were donated by Hockley's Kinmount 5 to $1.00 store. Happy eleventh anniversary to Al and Yvonne Dyer. I hope the gentleman who decided to turn "streaker" at Kinmount liquor store at 6 o'clock Saturday night hasn't caught cold.

I met a very personable young man last Monday night, in the form of one, Mr. Larry Vickers; host, at a very nice eating spot just outside of Fenelon Falls at Byrnell Manor. The place is a combination of the past and present. Walls of barnboard, a huge, old brick fireplace complete with a very comforting fire, old barrels, old wooden chairs and tables and oil lamps on each table. Antiques line the walls and make for interesting conversation. The people there are very friendly and they serve good meals. It's the kind of place you like to go back to.

Bill Moss spent Friday in Peterborough.

We were in Lindsay on Thursday and what a busy spot that is now, with Xmas shoppers out in force. We met some of our Kinmount friends while there. Barb Fountain and Georgina Swinson, to name a couple.

Lorrie and Jason Moss were also visitors to Lindsay on Thursday.

A very happy birthday to Helen Graham on November 23.

Birthday greetings also to Ida Parry of "Coby" on December 3 and to our son, Bill on December 7 and not to forget Jim Walker on December 12. Hope your own special days are happy ones.

While on the subject of good wishes: many of them are sent out to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cove formerly of Norland who recently celebrated their 50th anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kay and their daughters held a very nice party for the happy couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Medcalf at RRI, Norland. There were 40 to 50 guests present and a grand time was enjoyed by all.

Happy belated 40th anniversary, also, to Marjory and Adrian Lee who were feted with a dance, held at the "Coby" Legion. Everyone enjoyed themselves.

Still another wedding dance was held recently, this one in Oshawa and honouring a happy couple, Peggy (nee) Scarlett and Gerry McNeil. Peggy is the granddaughter of Clara and Ambrose Watson of RRI, Kinmount, who attended the dance and spent the weekend with their daughter Charlene Fountain in Oshawa. Many happy years are wished for all you newlyweds.

The Kinmount Senior Citizens #714 will be sponsoring their annual Xmas bazaar and bake sale on Saturday, November 29 from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the community hall in Kinmount. There will be a "white elephant" table and lunch will be served at the nominal fee of $1. Come out and enjoy a few hours with your friends and neighbours.

Another coming event is the C.W.L. annual turkey bingo to be held at the Legion in Kinmount, Tuesday, December 9 beginning at 8 p.m. Then on December 11 at 6 p.m. the local Senior Citizens will be holding their Xmas party dinner at the Kinmount Legion. Happiness is: being on the go.

Shortbread: 1 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 1/2 cups all purpose flour (regular or instant blending). Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Cream thoroughly. Add flour (measured without sifting), 1/4 cup at a time. Mix well. Divide dough into several portions. Flatten one portion at a time on lightly floured surface with hands. Roll out smooth with lightly floured rolling pin to 1/4" thickness. Cut in desired shapes with floured cutters and place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until light golden colour.

From the above dough you can make Shortbread tarts simply by rolling to 1/8" thickness, cutting with 2" scalloped cutter and pressing into bottom of ungreased small tart tins (with 1 3/4" bottom diameter). Bake at 325 degrees F. for 13 - 15 minutes. Remove from pans when cool. Fill with teaspoonful of thin icing (plain, tinted or chocolate). Decorate before icing sets with candied cherries, nuts or as desired.

The Norland Firefighters' Association hockey pool winner for November 15 was Grace England. Proceeds of this pool go towards the lovely fireworks display held every year on the May 24 weekend.

St. James A.C.W. catered at the community hall on Friday evening last with a roast beef dinner for the community council members

The West Guilford Centre's news and activities begins each newsletter with bingo reports - keeping up with the news on a daily basis gives some semblance of order to the happenings at the centre. Monday, November 10 there was still no winner of the $130 snowball. Mrs. Carol Duncan, the centre president attended for the first time, and was delighted with her $5 win. The attendance was a record.

Monday, November 17, the snowball was won by me, Margaret Barker, a nerve-shattering delightful experience, worth $172.

The Wednesday morning craft class is a hive of activity, and if you are having second thoughts about coming along, it is not too late. Drop in and see some of the articles being made from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Deepest sympathy is extended to our basket weaving instructor, Arlene Edwards, whose father passed away suddenly.

Thursday, November 13 was a gala affair - a dinner honouring couples of West Guilford married 50 years or more. These couples are: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Les McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barnum, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sisson, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peck.

Seated at the Head table were Mr. and Mrs. Murray Fearrey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bannion, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Duncan. Mr. Fearrey gave a short, apt speech in which he said the couples honoured were as those married "veterans" as those war veterans honoured two days earlier. Local Artist Juries Members Best Show

The Members Best Show officially opened Tuesday at the Ralls' End Gallery with local artist Bruce Mills acting as adjudicator. Bruce's background in the arts as well as his chosen career as a performer enabled him to perform his task with expertise and understanding, the two most valuable quantities to the mature crafts person when asked to critique their work.

Although admittedly unfamiliar with the technical aspects of several of the crafts displayed, Bruce, with the aid of past president Mary Wallace to explain the execution in these areas, juried them on design and content.

As Bruce travelled through the show, secretary Deb Bates noted comments on each exhibitor's work, to be compiled in point form and then mailed to each participant.

Bruce did an excellent job and we sincerely thank him for his time and effort. As he travelled through the show giving his critique on each piece it became for those who attended the jurying an enlightening and learning experience. Comments like "Does this particular piece have anything to say?", "Is it alive or frozen?", "Does it radiate life?" and other comments such as, "Does the piece draw your attention to a main focal point, then lead you out?", "Does it flow?", "Is it a pleasing shape?", "Does your work reflect the area in which you live and its environment?" All these comments and many more gave each of us as crafts people food for thought, and hopefully a new perspective in our own work.

It takes a great deal of courage to submit your work to a juried show and the Guild sincerely thanks those crafts people who submitted their pieces. It also takes a great deal of courage to critique such a show and here we thank Bruce once again for undertaking with such finesse this most difficult task.

After the critique a pot luck luncheon was served by the members who were present at the critique and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Wreaths and Other Decorations

Today, Wednesday, November 26 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., a workshop conducted by Pat Campbell of Campbell's Garden Centre will be held at the Gallery. This workshop will be on Christmas decorations and is free to Guild members, with non-members paying a nominal fee of $10.

For this workshop you will need natural materials such as milkweed pods, pine cones, grasses, corn husks, etc. So come along, make your decoration now; Christmas is right around the corner.

questioning when you first see them. Not to could lead to mistakes. Yes we have made mistakes. Our lives run on a path between right and wrong.

The flag of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was at half mast in remembrance.
Somehow a tomato plant has appeared among the flowers and because it appears to be so rugged we did not want to throw it out. No doubt someone was eating tomatoes around there sometime. Someone left a slick empty container, wax or detergent or what not. To avoid waterlogging from over watering we drilled two drainage holes in the bottom. Then we got two lengths of 36" hardware cloth, rolled each into sleeves 3" diameter, set one into the pot and filled it with potting soil and the sleeve with peat moss. It looks quite cute. That is where we put the tomato plant. The peat moss sleeve can now be seeded in its length with flowers. Hydroponic materials will be added at the top of the sleeve. The other sleeve can easily be spliced on to the top of it when needed.

Thursday night we were bussed to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to view the dress rehearsal of a play "Murder is Announced" from a murder mystery novel by the late Agatha Christie. We must not give anything away except to say that when the word murder was first used in the play it was much in the abstract, but as the play progressed it became grimmer and grimmer. The character acting was excellent.

Going to school these last few days the word 'discipline' has been on our minds and we are sure your principal and teachers will agree that it exceeds any other word in scope. Its use nowadays penalty-wise is long outdated. As an infant, think of the discipline of speech, of eating, of laughing and crying, later on as walking to the extent that before your memory lends itself to recall you had all the discipline you needed to learn, play and take part in sports or gymnastics. Later on when you graduate you will have been graded as to whether you are apt in undertaking the disciplines of medicine, or law, or engineering, or theology, or of skilled labour, for after all what is skill but discipline. Anyone not disciplined in one pursuit or another is a person without skill. The perfect mate for discipline is knowledge. One hears of "sowing ones wild oats" which is akin to discarding your accumulated disciplines for a year or more to see what it is like. We can only say don't. Occasionally we hear of people who say they do not believe in God. If one will only contemplate that perfectly disciplined disciplinarian architect that magnificent allmighty God of the universe how can anyone not believe? What a wonderful English word discipline is and you may think of the disciplines, or you may look up its French equivalent. We could not find the word English in our Webster dictionary.

Friday morning devotion period was led by Pastor The Rev. Roger Sauve of Gooderham Pentecostal Church giving us a broader interpretation of Psalm 23 which was of great interest to us. He was his own pianist and has a musical voice, and gave a few solos accompanying himself on his guitar. This time he was unescorted. We had a nice informal chat after service of tea or coffee and cookies.

In the afternoon a movie was shown of the social life of Western Canada, that part that is thinking of separating. What hoe-downs they had to the music of the fiddle, and the chats over the back fence, but no liquor was shown, indicating that all the fun they were having was generated spontaneously. We were also reminded of our Prime Minister telling them over TV that they had hysteria. We thought he has enough language training to know that "hysteria" is the ancient Greek word for "womb trouble". It would seem that Western Canada has enough troubles without any of that.

The November birthdate party were notable - Norman Craig, Charlie Fader, 101 on the 15th, William Andrews 96 same date, Pauline Otto, Hazel Parish and Edith Hartle, 89 on the 6th. Harold Brodhead provided the serenade on his violin, the most versatile violinist in Haliburton County, substituting for our enjoyment of Marilyn Stouffer who could not be here this time.

Sunday afternoon, Lieut Ron Mallam, of the Haliburton Salvation Army, and with his guitar, two of his officers Amelia Sibley and Lillian Hague, came to give us another session of hymns, and a message of the 23rd Psalm. Thanks everyone.

Why is it as you get older, the months seem to pass by so quickly? Here it is the last week of November and Christmas is less than a month away. It just seems like yesterday that we all heard of the hunters going in for a week of frustration! Yesterday I figured that I better get busy so got my Christmas cards out on the table also my address book but that is as far as it went, now every time I pass the table they are staring at me so one of these days I'll get going I hope!

Only three birthdays at Hyland Crest Home for the month of December. They are: Winnifred Johnson, 2nd; Arthur Young, 19th; and Esther Rowbotham, 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dart are home after a holiday in Florida.

The Library-Culture Centre meeting has been postponed until Monday, December 1. It will be at the library at 8 p.m.

Congratulations to Lois Corbett, daughter of Mike and Charlotte O'Neill who has been elected councillor in the town of Ignace.

A seminar was held at Bruce Lee Manor in Walkerton last Wednesday. Those attending from this area were Mrs. Linda English, Mrs. Ada Lewis and Mrs. F. Donnelly.

Miss Laura Bird of Toronto visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bird over the weekend.

Winners of Wintario toques last week were - Mae's Country Mart, Tammy Pritchard; Stedman's, Olive Riddell; Drug Store, Helen Cox; Mike's, Luella Yearwood; Brown Owl, Jack Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heffer enjoyed having Jan's sister Ann Mallott of Kingsville with them over the weekend.

The lobby of the Minden Post Office is getting the new look this week as more lock boxes are being installed and the lobby made larger. The post office lobby will be closed at 6 p.m. every night this week and it is hoped the work will be finished by the weekend. The post office hopes that everyone will bear with the mess until all work is completed.

Garnet Coulter of Campbell River, B.C. and Gerald Coulter of Toronto, visited with their mother in Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay and their father recently. I know all her friends will be pleased to know that Lydia is able to be up in a wheelchair but still has a long way to go so keep those cards rolling.

Without faith a man can do nothing, with faith all things are possible.

The A.C.W. of St. Paul's Church are holding their Christmas luncheon, bazaar and bake sale at the Parish Hall this Friday, November 28. The chili luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Afternoon tea will be served from 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m., and the bazaar and bake sale will continue until 4:30 p.m. unless they are all sold out before then.

Start your Christmas baking early with Ginger Boys - 1 cup margarine; 1 1/2 cups sugar; 1 beaten egg; 2 tablespoons corn syrup; 3 cups all purpose flour; 2 teaspoons baking soda; 2 teaspoons cinnamon; 2 teaspoons ginger; 2 teaspoons ground cloves.

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; blend in egg and corn syrup; add combined flour, soda and spices; mix well. Chill dough. Roll out dough to 1/8" thickness. Cut with 5" gingerbread man cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 400 degrees F. (200 C.) 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. Makes 24 ginger boys. After cookies are cold they may be frozen in a box with a layer of waxed paper between them. Cont'd. page 12 when he said a few years ago that separatism in Quebec was a "dead issue".

A poll of 1,400 Western Canadians taken recently by the Canada West Foundation, a group that favours Western separation, showed that only three percent of those polled supported the government's position that federal consent alone was sufficient to patriate the Constitution.

Sixty-eight percent said that patriation should have the support of the provincial governments as well as the federal government, and 62 percent said that patriation should have the support of all 10 provinces.

The Glamorgan Public Library has received another large donation from Mr. Theo Peacock. Over the past years Theo has generously donated all the profits from his book, "Tales of the Trail" to the library. This book was published as a centennial project to celebrate the Township of Glamorgan's one hundredth anniversary in 1974. Approximately 5000 books have been sold.

The book exchange took place on Wednesday, November 19 at the Glamorgan Public Library. An excellent selection of books in many categories has been received.

If you are interested in travel, history, biography, cooking, furniture repair, or any subject, we either have or can get the appropriate book for you. We have also received an excellent selection of children's and adult's fiction. Drop in and browse around. We are sure we have something for every taste. This free service is provided to all residents and property owners.

couples. A turkey dinner was served by the centre's committee staff. The tables were most attractively laid and the dance hall took on an aura of a large, elite dining room. At least 80 people were served. It was a dinner fit for "a king".

The pot luck lunch on Thursday afternoon was once again a pleasant few hours with friends and neighbours. One comment overheard,

"there's enough food to feed all of West Guilford". About two dozen folk stayed for games of euchre and cribbage. The December lunch will be held on December 9 when we hope for a large turnout for a Christmas carol sing-song.

The West Guilford Centre's Committee, on behalf of all residents of the area, extends deepest sympathy to the families of the teenagers involved in the tragic accident last Friday.

Galway-Cavendish meet for October council meeting

At the October meeting of Galway Cavendish council, the following matters were considered:

Ivan James and Bill Russell attended the meeting to present the results of the feasibility study reflecting the impact on the ratepayers of the municipality with regard to Section 86, of the Assessment Act.

James explained the difference class units and explained the rates used to determine the assessment. Council assured James that a resolution would be passed at the October 25, 1980 meeting stating the municipality's position with regard to Section 86 for the 1981 taxation year.

W. Huels and B. Ehmke attended the meeting to discuss with council the minutes of the planning board meeting held September 29, 1980. One of the items regarded the official plan amendment for light industrial, excluding Galway and Cavendish. After discussing this amendment the following resolution was passed: that council objects to the North Kawartha Official Plan amendment Number 1 as a planning principle, but as Galway Cavendish is not part of the "arterial road system" we hereby agree to the inclusion of Galway Cavendish in the General Amendment and further that the North Kawartha Planning Board and The Ministry of Housing be advised accordingly.

Council requested that the North Kawartha Planning Board ensure that an official notice is received in reasonable time prior to any major issues/policies/plan amendments, etc. being dealt with, that require member municipality input to assist in the decision making process.

Councillor MacLellan declared a conflict of interest on the following resolution and removed herself from the meeting.

The reeve is authorized to enter into an offer to purchase with Mr. Drude for ten (10) acres of land situated on lot 16, Concession 4, Cavendish in the amount of ten thousand (10,000) dollars subject to council viewing the property and confirming its acceptability before the reeve signs the agreement.

ladies of the Gospel Church in Minden served a variety of sandwiches, tea breads and cookies at the tea party. After the lunch, the ladies led our residents in a sing-song of favourite gospel hymns. Thank you ladies for a most enjoyable afternoon.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Grace Coburn was here to lead the sing song. We enjoyed a duet sang by Mrs. Coburn and Mrs. Mary Oliver, who is a resident of our home. Our thanks to our resident piano-player, Mrs. Krick who played the piano for the sing song.

I would like to mention at this time that we have started a fund-raising campaign to buy a new colour television for our home. Our goal is $1,000. Any donations would be greatly appreciated to help us reach our goal. I will keep my readers informed of our progress. Wouldn't it be nice to present our residents of Hyland Crest with a new colour T.V. for Christmas? The television we now have, is beyond repair and that is why we have started this fund.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank the doctors and nurses at Haliburton Red Cross Hospital for the care I received during my recent stay. Thanks also to Roy Schroter for taking me to Peterborough, and to all the friends and neighbours who sent me cards.
Gordon Cruickshanks
27-P-26

In the past week our family has learned a very valuable lesson. We have learned not to take life for granted. For we have found that life is as unpredictable as the weather, and that fate sometimes deals
a very cruel hand of cards.
This past week there were four of our families that had to play the game of life. But as usual, fate had all the wild cards, and we all lost. We found though that we are still winners. That we have won the knowledge that we live in one of the most loving, caring and compassionate communities in the world. All that we can say to this town is thank you in the deepest way we can.

Words are seldom enough, to relay our thanks and appreciation, to the people who played key parts in the last week's events. We wish to say a special thanks to the Minden OPP, to the Haliburton Ambulance Service, Stanhope First Response Team, Dr. Blair Pierce, Dr. Harry
Good, and to all the people who came to the funeral home and to Penny's funeral. We would also send special thanks to Mr. Gordon Monk and his family and to Rev.
Trevor Denny and John Smith who gave words of great comfort and strength. Finally to all of our relatives and friends who came to the house this past week, all that we can say is thanks.
Jack Pripp
and family

THANK YOU

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Gorveatt and family would like to express their sincere appreciation to the numerous friends, relatives, and neighbours who assisted in so many ways after the tragic loss of our dear son, Rodney David. Special thanks to anyone who assisted at the accident scene, Minden OPP,
the Ambulance crew, Dr.
Pierce, Dr. Holliday-Rhodes,
Zion U.C.W., the Rev. D.
Miller, and the Gordon A.
Monk Funeral Home. 27-B-26

We would like to thank everyone for their kindness and thoughtfulness during mother's illness.
Your flowers, cards, contributions and assistance during our bereavement are greatly appreciated.

Jim and Rella McEwin
